Corporate Team Building

Escape Room Mystery takes corporate team building to a new level. While many activities may feel awkward and forced, an escape room activity lets employees step away from their typical work day. Everyone is placed on even footing in a challenging setting where problem solving and team work is essential in a high-pressure situation. The high-pressure of an escape room creates exceptional bonding, can highlight interpersonal dynamics for managers to address, and gives everyone a dramatic shared experience unlike any other.

There are many benefits that can arise from using an escape room as a corporate team building experience. A few of these benefits are:

- Team members will get to know one another better. Removing barriers of unfamiliarity helps build trust in the workplace.
- Communication skills are essential. Managers can observe the way team members are communicating and consider how this parallels at work.
- Sharing information is vital to escape rooms- Seeing which employees are not sharing or are too independent can give managers specific areas to address in the workplace.
- Escape rooms boost morale. In addition to the team-building experience, members feel like they have been treated to something unique and exciting.

Why Escape Room Mystery? As various escape room companies begin to appear, choosing one that is well-developed is essential to have a productive experience.

- Our rooms have been thoroughly tested & over 50 thousand customers have played them since opening in June 2016. They are truly challenging and unique with strong, team-oriented tasks.
- The owner and developer is a mechanical engineer with 20 years of engineering experience. This gives ERM exciting surprises with moving doors, unexpected lights and sounds.
- A professional team of artists who have worked at Universal Studios & Disney has themed each room to make the groups feel like they have left the real world behind.
- We are in an easily accessible area with free parking, close to restaurants and many other amenities including a fabulous, professional building to which you will be proud to bring your employees.
